

A scatter plot illustrating a positive linear trend. The data points are represented by circles whose color transitions from dark purple at the bottom-left to bright yellow at the top-right. In the lower-left quadrant, there are three large, downward-pointing triangles: a red one, an orange one, and a purple one, arranged diagonally. The entire plot is enclosed in a black rectangular frame.

